Rabbi Jack Moline is Executive Director of Interfaith Alliance. In a career spanning four decades, he has established himself as a powerful voice fighting for religious freedom for all Americans, regardless of their faith or belief system. As a rabbi, he has worked to create common ground between people of diverse religious and secular backgrounds. As an advocate, he has led efforts to secure services for the disabled, increase the supply of affordable housing, promote marriage equality, ensure pay equity and especially, protect civil rights for people of all faiths and sexual orientations.

The Reverend Sandra L. Strauss is the Director of Public Advocacy for the PA Council of Churches. She is a member of the Council's executive staff with responsibilities to inform, educate, and empower people of faith on significant public issues and to coordinate and articulate public policy positions that reflect the Council's constituent church bodies' commitment to peace, justice, equality and compassion for all people.

Rabbi Carl Choper has been involved actively in interfaith dialogue for over thirty years, and was a co-founder of the Interfaith Alliance –PA. He has participated in seminars and workshops in interfaith dialogue and has organized dialogues both in academic and community settings.
